

2010 HURRICANE READINESS GUIDE

James City County • City of Williamsburg • York County

PLAN NOW FOR HURRICANES

Don't be fooled by recent slow hurricane seasons. Even though forecasts of an active hurricane season have been proven wrong, you only need to look as far back as 2005 to the devastation brought by Hurricane Katrina to see the destruction a hurricane can cause to homes and lives.

In 2003, area residents experienced first hand the destructive forces of high winds when Tropical Storm Isabel toppled many trees, crushing houses and other property in its path. Flooding damaged many low-lying homes and thousands of residents lived without electric power and/or running water, for days.

With these powerful lessons learned, residents are urged to prepare now to be self-sufficient for two weeks. In this special hurricane readiness guide, you will learn how to create a family disaster plan, assemble a disaster supply kit, and protect your family, pets and home. In addition, important emergency phone numbers are given for James City County, City of Williamsburg and York County. Be sure to keep this handy guide for future reference.

Flooding at Chickahominy Haven.

INSIDE

- Hurricane planning for people with special needs2
- Children and disaster stress2
- Packing a Grab & Go kit3
- Preparing your home for before the storm4
- Emergency information and phone numbers:
 - James City County4
 - Williamsburg5
 - York County5
- Emergency shelter facts6
- Hurricane categories6
- Business continuity planning7
- Chainsaws and generators7
- Preparedness tips for families8
- Important documents to protect8
- I-64 lane reversal8

You have a powerful new neighbor

KOHLER[®]
RESIDENTIAL GENERATORS

KOHLER[®]

140-C Tewning Road (757) 253-8511
www.hathawaygenerators.com
 24 Hour Emergency Service

Hathaway Generators